All set to celebrate Oman National Day

Traditional souqs as well as the downtown shopping centres are in an upbeat mood as the nation is gearing up to celebrate its National Day. One of Oman's oldest traditional souqs, the Muttrah Souq, is all set to celebrate the National Day in colour and gaiety and a wide range of products in the national colours is on display across the breadth and width of the huge market frequented by citizens, expatriates and tourists.

Shawls, T-shirts, children's clothing, badges, banners, and flags of various sizes, and many other items, emblazoned with the images of His Majesty Sultan Haitham bin Tarik and the late His Majesty Sultan Qaboos, are displayed in the shops.

"Vendors in the souq have brought many products to the market, mostly from China and are flooded with many products that delight the eyes and minds of those who come to celebrate the National Day of Oman," one of the shopkeepers in Muttrah said. Additionally, they said that there is a good demand for gold-coloured daggers, the national symbol of Oman, just as the tricolour flags of various sizes are fluttering.

Bracelets designed by a local artist that can be used by both women and men are also trending in the market. Retail traders say that the seasonal demand in the market has not arrived yet, as the general recession has severely affected the retail market generally. They are hopeful that there will be some movement in the market as the National Day celebrations are approaching.

The Ministry of Finance has earlier issued a notification that special permission must be obtained to sell national symbols in order to ensure authenticity and ingenuity.

Oman Marks Glorious National Day with Renewed National Unity and Accelerated Development

MUSCAT: The Sultanate of Oman will celebrate its Glorious National Day this Thursday, commemorating the Al Busaidi State Foundation Day on 20 November. The occasion reflects the enduring patriotic spirit of the Omani people as they continue their journey of nation-building under the leadership of His Majesty Sultan Haitham bin Tarik. His Majesty's profound pride in the people of Oman underscores the deep unity between the Leader and the nation's loyal citizens. This cohesion remains a cornerstone of the achievements realized during the renewed Renaissance, reaffirming the historic resilience and collective determination of the Omani people.

Progress in Education, Research, and Innovation

In alignment with Oman Vision 2040, the Sultanate continues to strengthen education, higher education, scientific research, and innovation. These efforts have resulted in notable advancements:

Oman progressed 10 positions in the Global Innovation Index, rising from 84th to 74th over four years. Innovation outputs improved significantly, with the country advancing 23 positions, from 109th to 86th. The nation is also enhancing its scientific publishing capabilities and upgrading peer-reviewed journals as part of its transition toward a knowledge-based economy.

Advancements in Social Protection

Oman continues to develop a comprehensive social protection system that supports families, the elderly, persons with disabilities, women, children, and civil society organizations. New programs and initiatives aim to empower vulnerable groups, strengthen family cohesion, and enhance social stability across the nation.

Healthcare System Transformation

The launch of the National Health Policy establishes a clear roadmap for an integrated and sustainable health system. Specialized health initiatives are advancing care in maternal and child health, non-communicable disease screening, diabetes management, fertility services, oncology, cardiology, and the prevention of respiratory diseases.

Economic Growth and Diversification

The Omani economy demonstrated strong performance in 2025, driven by continued diversification efforts, increased non-oil revenue, and the expansion of the productive economic base. These strategic initiatives have boosted GDP growth, attracted higher investment flows, and strengthened private sector engagement.

Oman Vision 2040:

Charting a Confident Future Through Innovation, Sustainability and National Resolve

Oman's long-term development agenda has entered a decisive phase as Vision 2040 continues to redefine the nation's economic and social landscape. Grounded in the spirit of the Omani proverb, "Without a strong start, there's no lasting light," the blueprint represents the country's determination to build a resilient, diversified and globally connected future.

Shaped through nationwide consultations, Oman Vision 2040 aims to reduce dependence on oil, accelerate digital transformation, and strengthen competitiveness across key sectors. From next-generation connectivity and logistics corridors to investment-driven diversification, the plan seeks to ensure that Oman remains agile amid global uncertainty.

First conceptualized under the late Sultan Qaboos bin Said and guided today by Sultan Haitham bin Tariq, Vision 2040 reflects a continuity of leadership focused on thoughtful, long-term progress. It emphasizes sustainability, private-sector empowerment, human capital development and a society capable of thriving in an era defined by rapid technological change. As Oman advances along this roadmap—modernizing infrastructure, attracting new investments and nurturing innovation—the nation is emerging as a model for other developing economies seeking stability through strategic foresight. Vision 2040 not only charts Oman's path forward but stands as a testament to its enduring capacity for renewal and reinvention.

What's Oman's new cultural visa?

Oman has introduced a new Cultural Visa, expanding its portfolio of entry visas to support cultural exchange, artistic development and intellectual collaboration. The Royal Oman Police (ROP) announced the detailed framework of the visa, outlining its purpose, eligibility, duration, and national significance.

According to the announcement from Royal Oman Police, the cultural visa is an entry permit granted to foreigners coming to Oman for cultural purposes. It is issued upon the request of the relevant authority, with the hosting entity — such as the Ministry of Culture, Sports and Youth, academic institutions, or cultural centres — assuming responsibility for the applicant throughout their stay.

The visa is granted to individuals participating in, or engaging with, a range of cultural activities within the Sultanate. These include temporary residence for cultural exchange or artistic training, academic or research collaboration in culture, arts, and heritage, participation in literary and intellectual conferences or festivals, and attending or organising cultural and artistic events or exhibitions.

In addition, a special clause has been introduced that allows the issuance of a cultural joining visa for the spouse or first-degree relatives of foreigners entering the country for cultural purposes. The cultural visa may be issued for one year at a fee of OR50 or for five years with an annual fee of OR50 or for 10 years with the same annual fee, depending on the applicant's needs and purpose. Importantly, the visa must be used within three months from its issuance, otherwise it becomes invalid.

Authorities highlight the importance of the cultural visa as a tool for facilitating the entry of experts, researchers, and creators, supporting the transfer of knowledge and the exchange of experiences. It also assists in organising the legal presence of foreigners involved in cultural activities, ensuring compliance with the relevant supervisory authorities. The visa is also viewed as part of efforts to activate cultural tourism, enhance Oman's global cultural openness, improve intellectual communication with countries worldwide, and encourage foreign participation in cultural and artistic events hosted by the Sultanate. The objectives of the cultural visa include providing a clear legal framework for the entry and residency of foreigners for cultural purposes, enhancing Omani culture through cultural exchange and joint events, enabling Omani institutions to host foreign talent and delegations with ease, and supporting Oman's Cultural Strategy 2040, which aims to build an open knowledge society connected to the world.

The ROP clarified that the extension provisions of the cultural visa do not apply to any other visa type mentioned in the Executive Regulations of the Foreigners' Residence Law. These rules are exclusive to the cultural visa.

Now, Indians need visa to enter Iran

TEHRAN: Iran has announced that it will suspend its one-way visa exemption for Indian nationals holding ordinary passports. From Nov 22, Indian travellers will no longer be permitted to enter the country without a visa and must obtain one in advance for both entry and transit.

The earlier policy allowed Indian tourists to visit Iran without a visa under specific conditions. It formed part of Tehran's wider effort to promote tourism and strengthen relations with Asian countries. With the change, every Indian national carrying an ordinary passport will now be required to secure a valid visa before travelling. According to the new guidelines, passengers must have their Iranian visa before boarding their flight. The rule also applies to travellers simply passing through an Iranian airport, as transit without a visa will no longer be allowed.

Iran has been a popular destination for Indian tourists, offering a mix of cultural, historical and spiritual sites. Travellers often visited cities such as Isfahan and Shiraz for their architecture and heritage, while places like Qom and Mashhad remained important pilgrimage stops. Many visitors were also drawn to Iran's desert landscapes and old Silk Road pathways.

The country has served as a convenient transit hub too, particularly for budget travellers heading to Europe or Central Asia. The new visa requirement is expected to change travel planning for a large number of passengers who previously relied on Iran as an easy transit route.

The embassy of India in Tehran said the decision follows several incidents where Indian nationals were lured to Iran on false promises of employment or onward travel and were later kidnapped for ransom after entering the country using the visa waiver facility. The government of Iran has now suspended this facility for ordinary Indian passport holders from Nov 22, 2025 to prevent further misuse. From that date, Indians will need a visa to enter or transit through Iran. The advisory urged

The aircraft features a two-class cabin configuration comprising 56 IndiGoStretch seats and 282 Economy Class seats, ensuring comfort and convenience for long-haul travel.

Oman Sets Global First: Muscat Airport Launches Wi-Fi 7 for Next-Gen Travel Experience

MUSCAT: Oman has taken a major leap in digital transformation with the introduction of Wi-Fi 7 connectivity across all its airports, becoming the first airport operator in the world to implement the cutting-edge technology.

Oman Airports, in partnership with Huawei, announced that the upgrade is now fully active at Muscat International Airport and other airports nationwide. The deployment of Wi-Fi 7 promises passengers faster speeds, enhanced security, and more reliable Internet access, setting a new global benchmark for seamless travel connectivity. Officials said the initiative reflects Oman Airports' commitment to innovation, operational excellence, and a passenger-first approach. According to a statement from the operator, the milestone is aligned with Oman's Vision 2040, which prioritizes smart infrastructure and digital readiness. The inclusion of advanced wireless systems is expected to elevate the overall travel experience, support airport operations, and strengthen Oman's position as a forward-thinking aviation hub. With this technological leap, Oman Airports signals its ambition to offer world-class services that keep pace with global trends and the growing expectations of modern travellers.

US DOES NOT HAVE ENOUGH TALENT

Trump softens his stand on H-1B visa

WASHINGTON: US President Donald Trump appears to have softened his stance on his administration's aggressive push on H-1B visa reforms, acknowledging the need for specialised foreign talent to fill critical roles in the American workforce.

During a TV interview, Trump defended the value of skilled immigrant workers, arguing that the US could not simply repurpose long-term unemployed Americans for complex roles in manufacturing and defence without extensive training. When the interviewer said the US had "plenty of talented people," Trump countered, "No, you don't. There are certain skills you don't have, and people have to learn them. You can't take people off the unemployment line and say, 'I'm going to put you into a factory where we're going to make missiles.'" Trump cited an example from the state of Georgia, where, according to him, the removal of skilled foreign workers created difficulties in manufacturing complex products. His remarks mark a notable shift from his earlier stance on foreign worker visas, particularly the H-1B programme, which has been a central topic in US debates over immigration and employment.

Foreign students must register on SII portal

NEW DELHI: All higher educational institutions (HEIs) enrolling foreign students are required to register them with the government database, failure to do which will lead to denial of visa. Instructed by the ministry of education, higher education regulator University Grants Commission has issued a public notice addressed to all HEIs to register themselves and the international students with the government's Study In India (SII) portal from the current year. The UGC notice said such data would help in smooth admission and completion of visa formalities of the foreign students as well as their safe and proper stay on campus.

Growing India-Oman ties

Editorial By EL Vaidyanathan

As Oman is all set to celebrate its National Day, a review of India-Oman historic relations is worth doing. The historic relationship between India and the Sultanate of Oman is marked by trade and people-to-people communications that date back to ancient times. Along with trade relations, there are several defence and cultural co-operation agreements which complement the India-Oman relations. India and Oman renewed the Memoranda of Understanding (MoUs) on military co-operation along with its annexure as well as on maritime issues on May 20, 2021. The signing ceremony of MoU on military co-operation was held at the Ministry of Defence, Muscat, Oman is an important interlocutor at the Gulf Co-operation Council (GCC), Arab League and Indian Ocean Rim Association (IORA) fora. India and Oman are linked by geography, history and culture and enjoy warm and cordial relations. While people-to-people contact between India and Oman can be traced back 5000 years---- diplomatic relations were established in 1955 and the relationship was upgraded to a Strategic Partnership in 2008.

Archaeological excavations in Oman have shown that India had trade relations in the region dating back to thousands of years. At one point of time, Tipu Sultan even sent a diplomatic mission for establishing relations with the Sultanate of Oman. Oman would become a British protectorate in 1891, which it would continue to be until it shook off the protectorate status during the decolonisation of the Middle East in the 1950s.

An Indian consulate was opened in Muscat in February 1955 which was upgraded to a consulate general in 1960 and later into a full-fledged embassy in 1971. The first ambassador of India arrived in Muscat in 1973. Oman established its embassy in New Delhi in 1972 and a consulate general in Mumbai in 1976. Cordial diplomatic relations between the two nations have existed ever since then.

Both Oman and India have strong cultural ties. This is further reinforced by the presence of a large number of NRIs living in Oman. who organise cultural events in the country from time to time.

On commercial terms, India is among Oman's top trading partners. India is the fourth largest market for Oman's crude oil exports for 2023 after South Korea. India is also the third largest market for Oman's non-oil exports for 2023 after Saudi Arabia and third largest source of its import after UAE and Saudi Arabia. India's exports to Oman in FY 2023-2024 are valued at US$ 4.426 billion. Oman is India's 29th largest export market for the FY 2023-2024. India's imports from Oman in FY 2023-2024 were US$ 4.520 billion. Oman is India's 29th largest import source for the FY 2023-2024. Overall, Oman is India's 30th largest trading partner in FY 2023-2024 with total trade of US$ 8.947 billion.

Oman hosts a sizeable Indian community totalling about 6,59,789 individuals (512,611 males and 147,128 females) as of March 2024. Over 508,913 Indian nationals hold work visas. As of May 2024, as many as 1910 individuals of Indian origin possess Overseas Citizen of India (OCI) cards. Let the Oman-India relations grow stronger and stronger. As Oman celebrates its National Day, we wish the Sultanate to attain further prosperity and strength in the coming years.

Air India to resume China flights from Feb1

NEW DELHI: Air India has announced the resumption of its non-stop flights between Delhi and Shanghai from Feb 1, 2026, marking Air India's return to mainland China after nearly six years. Air India also intends to introduce non-stop flights between Mumbai and Shanghai next year, subject to regulatory approvals.

An official release said Air India will operate four times a week between Delhi and Shanghai using its twin-aisle Boeing 787-8 aircraft, featuring 18 flat beds in Business Class and 238 spacious seats in Economy Class. The reinstatement of Air India's services to Shanghai follows recent India-China diplomatic agreements that restored the air links paused in early 2020. Air India first launched non-stop services to mainland China in October 2000.

The Starlink Wifi service will be free for all Emirates customers, across all cabins on Starlink-equipped aircraft, with one-click access that requires no payment or special Skywards membership.

Emirates plans to install Starlink on all its in-service fleet – comprising 232 aircraft in the next two years. The airline has already equipped its first aircraft with Starlink on A6-EPF, the Boeing 777-300ER currently on display at the Dubai Airshow, where visitors can experience high-speed connectivity firsthand while on the ground.

By connecting these two airports, IndiGo is not only strengthening connectivity between India and the UK but also contributing towards the growth in trade, tourism and cultural exchange between the two countries.

IndiGo's flight number 6E0033 operates from Delhi to Manchester on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, every week, while flight number 6E0034 operates from Manchester to Delhi on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday every week. On arrival in Iran, many of them were kidnapped for ransom," it said.

Some experts said the move would create a centralised data repository with break-ups on institution- and discipline-wise enrolment and scholarships given by individual institutions. UGC secretary Manish Joshi issued the notice in September. It also asked all HEIs to appoint compliance officers to ensure all guidelines are adhered to.

"As directed by the Ministry of Education, Department of Higher Education, Government of India, all the Indian Higher Educational Institutions (HEIs) are hereby informed that the registration by foreign students seeking admission to HEIs for all courses (short-term and long-term) for the academic year 2025-26 onwards is mandatory and no foreign student would be given a student visa without registering on the Study In India (SII) Portal," the notice said. In 2018, the Union government launched the SII scheme to attract foreign students to Indian HEIs.

Leading HEIs were made partners under the scheme and they created extra seats for foreign students. The government, through its missions abroad, launched campaigns to encourage students to take admission to these institutions.

India widens visa-on-arrival access for UAE nationals

NEW DELHI: In a significant boost to cross-border mobility, India has expanded its Visa-on-Arrival (VoA) facility for citizens of the United Arab Emirates to three additional airports—Kochi, Calicut and Ahmedabad. The move adds to the existing VoA centres in New Delhi, Mumbai, Kolkata, Chennai, Bengaluru and Hyderabad, bringing the total number of eligible entry points to nine. The facility, offered exclusively to UAE nationals who have previously held an Indian e-visa or a regular paper visa, allows visitors to stay in India for up to 60 days.

The visa permits double entry within the 60-day period and covers travel for tourism, business, conferences and medical purposes. Officials clarified that applicants must hold passports valid for at least six months, and may be required to show proof of financial means, accommodation arrangements and confirmed return or onward travel. The VoA fee remains Rs 2,000—or the equivalent in foreign currency—for each traveller, including children. There is no cap on how many times a UAE national may use this facility annually.

The government reiterated that the scheme does not apply to any UAE national whose parents or grandparents were born in, or are permanent residents of, Pakistan.

India may offer visa-on-arrival to U.S., EU medical tourists, says Piyush Goyal

NEW DELHI: India is exploring the possibility of extending visa-on-arrival (VoA) facilities to medical tourists from the United States and the European Union, Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal said on Wednesday. The proposal, aimed at strengthening India's position as a global hub for affordable, high-quality healthcare, is currently under active consideration by the government. Goyal noted that medical and wellness tourism has emerged as one of India's fastest-growing sectors, attracting patients seeking advanced treatment, traditional therapies, and holistic healing practices. By easing entry norms for travellers from major Western countries, the government hopes to further accelerate this momentum and make India a more competitive destination in the international healthcare landscape.

The minister also highlighted that India's world-class hospitals, skilled medical professionals, and significantly lower treatment costs already give the country a strong advantage. "Simplifying the visa process will remove a major barrier and help thousands of patients choose India with greater confidence," he said. If approved, the visa-on-arrival scheme would mark a major policy shift and could lead to a substantial rise in inbound medical travel, benefiting hospitals, wellness centres, and the broader tourism ecosystem.

Delhi-Shanghai services is more than a route launch. It is a bridge between two great, ancient civilisations and modern economic powerhouses. At Air India, we are happy to reconnect one of the world's most vital air corridors, enabling travellers to pursue opportunities in business, trade, healthcare, education and culture with the comfort and warm Indian hospitality that define Air India."

Indigo had resumed operations from Kolkata to Guangzhou in Southern China on Oct 26 and from Delhi to Guangzhou on Nov 10. Shanghai is the 48th international destination to be served by the Air India group. The restored air link is expected to further boost exchanges in pharmaceuticals, technology, education and several other spheres.

Industry experts believe that the resumption of direct flight services between India and China presents major growth opportunities by making travel, trade and cross-border business more efficient for both countries. Daily non-stop cargo flights eliminates the need for rerouting cargo via regional hubs like Singapore, Bangkok or Hong Kong, reducing overall transit time by up to 24 hours and cutting freight costs by 15–20pc. Further, the two nations are leading air traffic growth in the Asia-Pacific region, with India expected to become the fastest-growing major aviation market from 2026 onward.

Plea to save oldest Indian restaurant Veeraswamy in London

LONDON: Some of Britain's leading chefs across cuisines have come out fighting in favour of one of London's oldest Indian restaurants --- Veeraswamy -- which is battling the threat of losing its iconic central location on Regent Street in a lease extension stand-off.

In an open letter in The Times, well-known chefs and restaurateurs such as Cyrus Todiwala, Raymond Blanc and Michel Roux appealed to the Crown Estate, landlord of Victory House, which houses the Michelin-star restaurant for nearly 100 years since April 1926, to "act responsibly".

Last summer, Veeraswamy owners MW Eat were informed that its lease would not be renewed because the Crown Estate wants to extend the ground floor reception area for the offices on the building's upper floors. The chefs write that converting "such a restaurant into offices would be sacrilege, representing a profound loss, both for London's restaurant scene and for our tourism economy, which thrives on the city's unique and diverse landmarks".

"As the Crown knows, heritage cannot be relocated, nor can history be replaced. Keeping Veeraswamy alive is an act of responsibility by the Crown worthy of London's reputation as one of the world's great dining and tourist cities," they say in the letter to the newspaper.

The Crown Estate is owned by the British monarch "in right of the Crown", which means that the King owns the estate during his reign, though it is not his private property. Therefore, he does not directly manage or make decisions about its assets, and the estate pays its profits into the UK government's coffers. "We have nurtured it, nourished it and kept it apace with the times.

It's probably the oldest surviving restaurant in the world now with such a rich history, and will be a tragedy if it were to lose its location," said Ranjit Mathrani, whose MW Eat group with sisters Namita and Camellia Panjabi operates other popular Indian diners in London, including Chutney Mary and Amaya.

Veeraswamy was founded by Edward Palmer, the great-grandson of General William Palmer, who was the Military and private secretary to Warren Hastings – the first Governor General of India – and Mughal Princess Faisan Nissa Begum. Palmer is said to have been greatly influenced by his great-grandmother when devising the first menu.

"Our guests have included her late majesty the Queen (Elizabeth II), the Princess Royale (Princess Anne) and other overseas royals, " said the present owner.
